EDITOR IN DISTRESS

Did you watch UFC 100? I did and I can't wait to see a live event for myself. If you didn't already know, UFC 103 is coming to Dallas on September 19 to American Airlines Center. Some fights booked or rumored are Junior Dos Santos vs. Mirko "Cro Cop" Filipovic, Martin Kampmann vs. Mike Swick, Josh Koscheck vs. Frank Trigg, Hermes Franca vs. Tyson Griffin, Sean Sherk vs. Gleison Tibau, Efrain Escudero vs. Cole Miller, and Rafael dos Anjos vs. Matt Wiman. Rich Franklin is rumored to fighting, but no opponent named yet. Tickets haven't been announced yet either, but I'm thinking pretty soon. UFC Fight Night Sept. 16 tickets in OKC, Oklahoma went on sell this past weekend. Fights announced or rumored for OKC are Nate Diaz vs. Melvin Guillard, Roger Huerta vs. Gray Maynard, Carlos Condit vs. Chris Lytle, Ed Herman vs. Aaron Simpson, Tim Credeur vs. Nate Quarry, Ronnys Torres vs. Jeremy Stephens, Mike Pyle vs. Chris Wilson, Kyle Bradley vs. Sam Stout and Ryan Jensen vs. Steven Steinbeiss. My friend Tony and I are going to both events. We've always talked about going to Las Vegas to see the fights, but it required money neither of us had or could keep saved. So two UFC events in the area three days apart... hell yeah we'll be at both!

Are you liking this heat? Not me, but at least I don't have to work outside like some of you. Thats sucks. I've done my share of outdoor labor and I remember just being drained when I got home. Hopefully your air conditioner at home and in your car works. My car AC only works if I'm driving on the highway. If I'm in stop and go traffic, I roll down my windows and suffer. Doesn't help that most of my shirts are black. Hopefully the weather will drop to lower 90's soon.

I really shouldn't deal with anything thats going to raise my temperature, but damn this week has some hot ladies calling me over. My friend Amra's burlesque troupe, Deviant Dolls Burlesque, performs with Ghoultown at the Boiler Room (101 W. Hickory, Denton) Friday. Plus on the same night in Dallas, my future wife to be Rebel Elle's band, The Loosies, will be performing at The Bone (2724 Elm St., Dallas). Then Saturday I'll be heading over to The Lakewood Theater (1825 Abrams Rd., Dallas) for the Atomic Frolic burlesque show featuring 2002 Ms. Exotic World Kitten Deville, Angela Ryan, La Davina, Ruby Rocket, Black Mariah, Rose Darling, Ginger Valentine, plus music by Ricki Derek. Also Metro ANE columnist, Vivienne Vermuth will be on stage in between girls picking up their clothes. Be sure to whistle at her. Check out her article on page 12, plus see the girls of Atomic Frolic on page 13. Tickets can be bought at the theater or by calling 214-821-7469. -GI Tha Thrill

SCOTT H. BIRAM

Scott H. Biram is a solitary electrified hootenanny. The Austin native takes country, blues and punk, puts 'em in a musical still and out flows either the craziest, most fucked up bluesy hellafried cacophany standing precariously on the edge of metal or the purest of Americana sounds.

When he's in a frenzy, his miked left foot stomps out the time while he shreds on his vintage Gibson guitar, his voice gutturally growling like a junkyard dog or wailing on harmonica like an old black man on the Mississippi Delta.

But when he's pining, it's an entirely different story, notes ringing clearly and simply from his hands, vocal cords and soul.

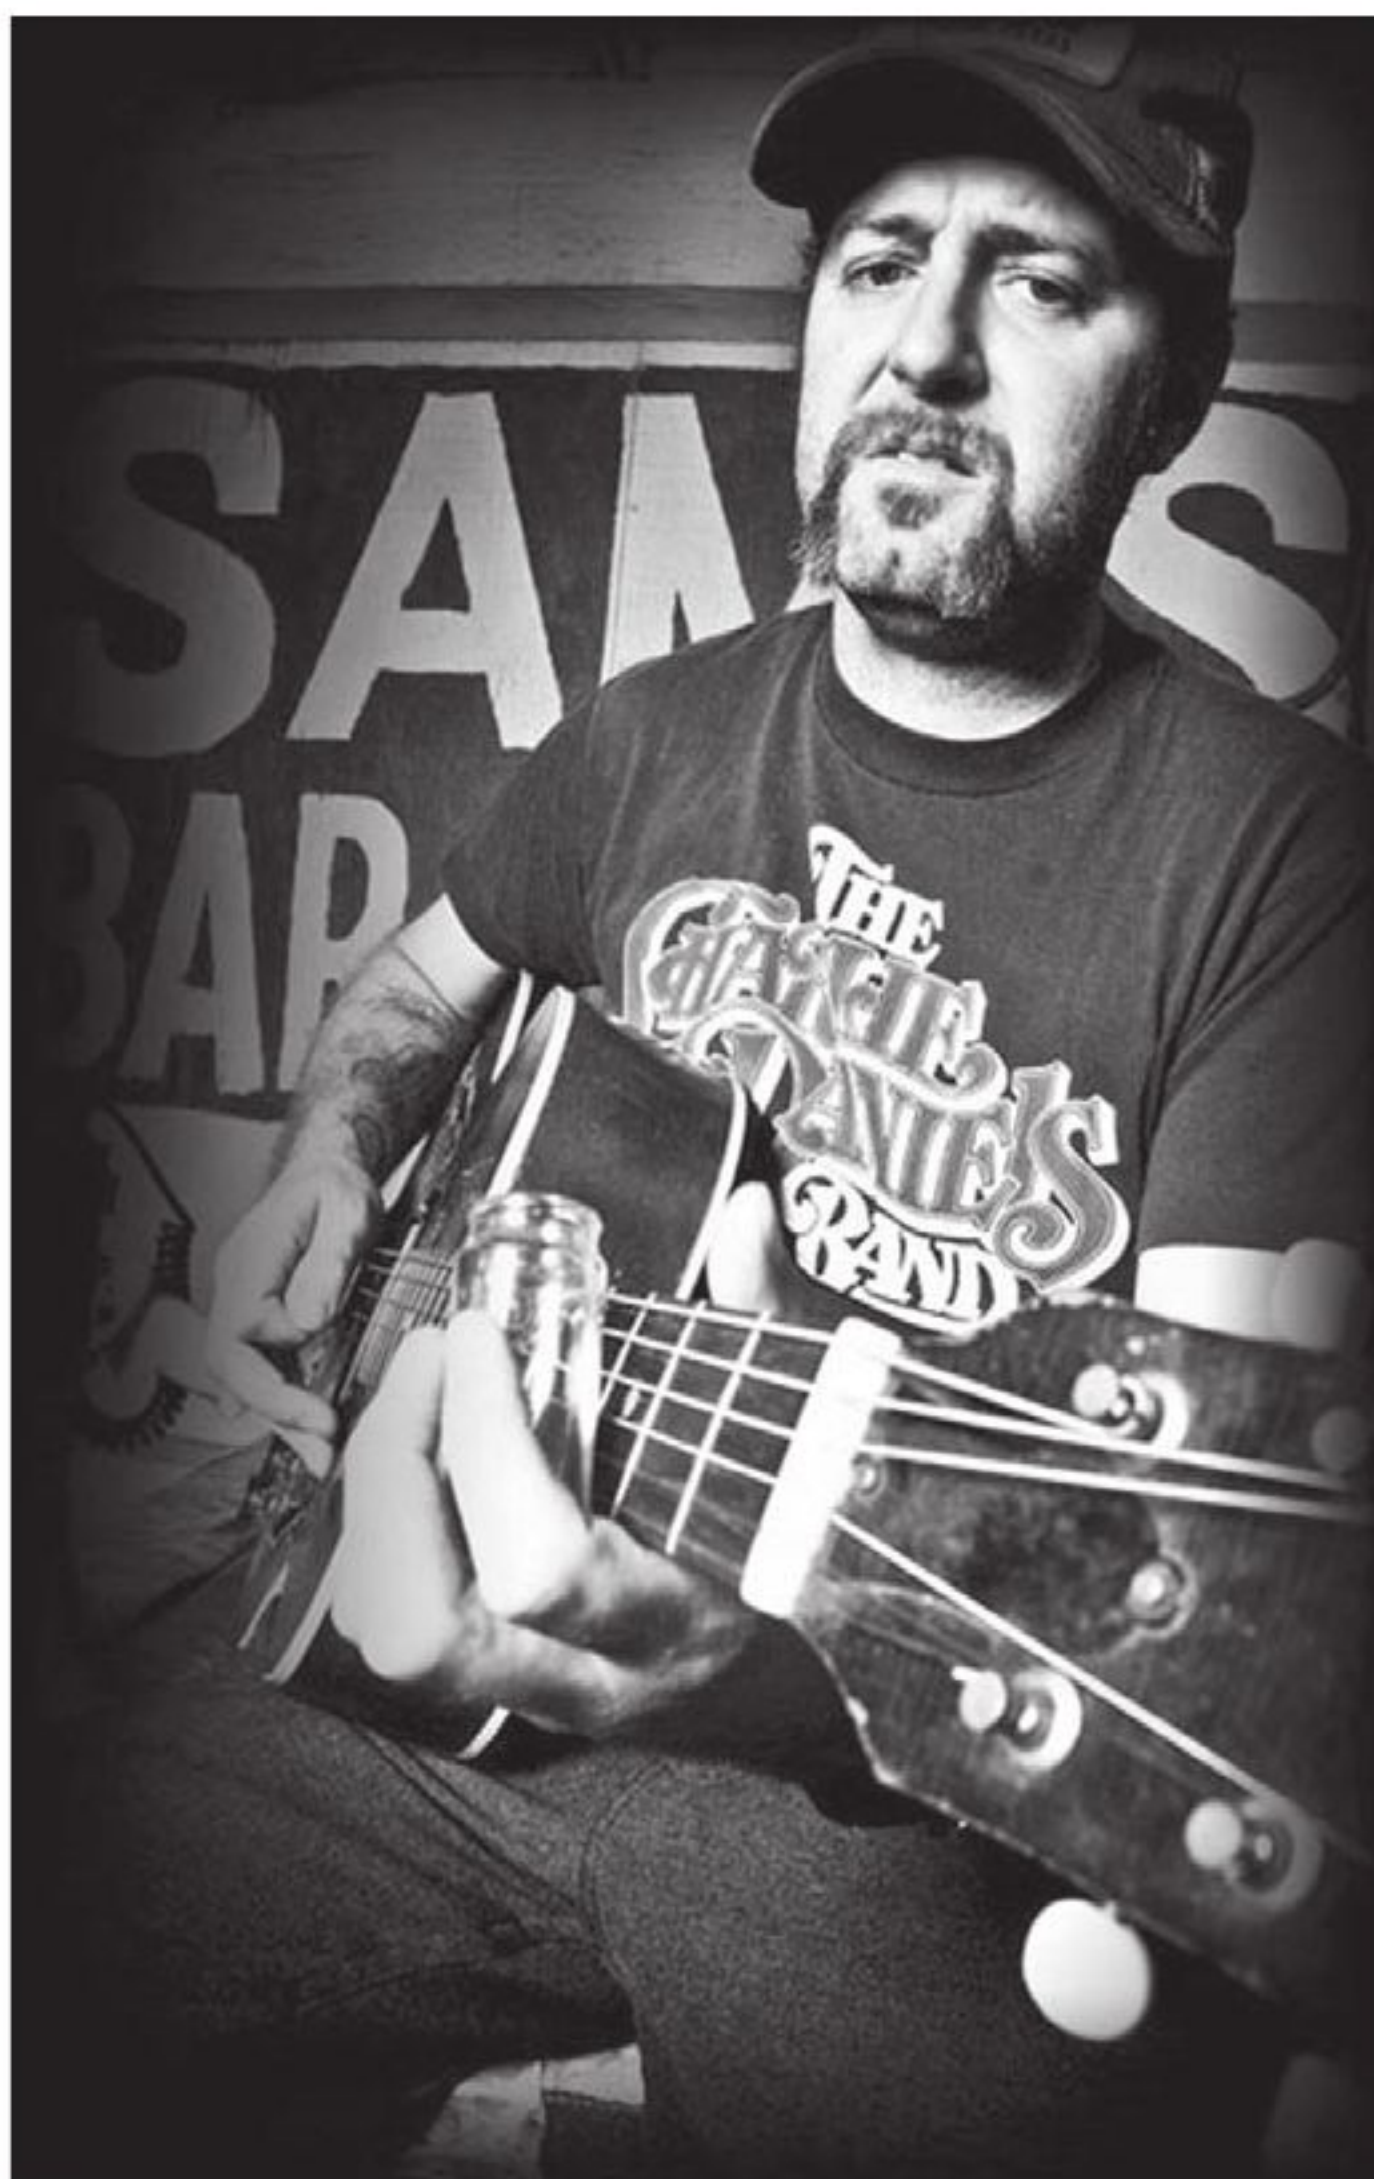

Salvation vs. damnation is the theme of his third Bloodshot Records release, Something's Wrong/Lost Forever. The CD starts out with two disturbing messages from Biram pleading for hospital release which were apparently recorded on his mother's answering machine.

Biram almost lost his life in a head-on collision with an 18-wheeler in 2003. His bio states he broke a leg, foot and arm, and lost a foot of his lower intestines. Yet he defied the odds and, about a month later, he took stage at The Continental Club in the Music Capital still hooked up to his IV. But these messages sound like they were from a rehab, and the torture is blatant.

Biram seems to be a man dangling between the eternal struggle of good and evil. Biram calls out the Holy Trinity on the tracks "Ain't It A Shame" and "Judgment Day," but he also seems to be heading the other way on "Time Flies." He may love The Lord but he loves the ladies as well (or maybe just one in particular) and this is apparent on "Feels So Good." "Draggin' Down the Line" is a working man's lament, and oddly enough I believe it's about driving a truck. My favorite songs have a common thread: that demon alcohol. "Still Drunk, Still Crazy, Still Blue" is self-explanatory and the simplest musical work, but the Devil is whispering in Biram's ear on "Wildside," where he's trying to convince an ex-lover to give up her sobriety and "give a little chance to the backslide" and love him again. On "Go Down Old Hannah" he sounds as close to the Delta as a man can get. The self-titled Dirty Old One Man Band will be appearing at The Granada Theater in Dallas this Friday with Grady and Rock Slut fave RTB2.

THE DJ BOOTH

with John J. Dick

I Feel Your Pain

The other day I was talking with one of the girls at the end of my shift. She said she was unable to tip me because she was behind on bills. I don't think she even realized how insulting that was to say. I mean, how would you feel if you gave a dance to a customer and he decided he couldn't pay you afterwards because he was behind on bills? Playing music for you is a service, just like you giving a lap dance. When you come in to work, you are asking the DJ to service you in the form of playing music and selling you to the crowd. Just like with a lap dance, if the customer wants something more intimate, he has to pay extra. If you ask the DJ for favors, special lights or certain music selections, he expects to be paid a little extra for it. The fact that you are behind on rent or a car payment has no bearing on this transaction. But, I digress. I do sympathize with your plight. A lot of people are behind on bills lately. Myself included.

Hell, I've got more bills piling up than a poultry processing plant. It's a symptom of these tight economic times we currently find ourselves in. It's a shared experience for many of us. So when you come to me, unable to tip, despite what I said above, I am sympathetic to what you are going through. I am always willing to let a girl slide on her tipout. All I ask in return is some basic human consideration. At least talk to me, let me know what's going on. Show me that you are sincere in your appreciation for the job I do for you, and that you do understand that I have bills to pay also. We are in this together, for better or worse. The worst thing you can do to me is to disregard the effort I put in to working for you. I'm not going to fight you over a $10 tip when your child is starving. Take care of yourself, it's important. Just, please, don't forget about me entirely. We'll make it through this together. But these hard times only get harder if we are at each other's throats.

It's important to remember that no matter how behind we are there are people worse off. Life has its ups and downs. We enjoy the good times while they last, and hold on to those memories to carry us through the bad times. Sometimes it's hard to stay optimistic. But it's vital that we do keep our chin up. Depression can be a real bitch, and feeling sorry for yourself isn't going to help things get better. Count your blessings, take stock of what you do have going for you and look to the future with a keen eye for the opportunities that wait for you just around the corner.

Meanwhile, I haven't eaten in three days and expect my electricity to be shut off within the week. If any of y'all reading this happen to be a rich heiress looking for someone to spoil... Let's just say that I'm an excellent dancer, am well traveled and a wonderful conversationalist. On top of that, I give one hell of a backrub. Too bad I'm hung like a mosquito.

John J. Dick has been Master of Ceremonies at a number of local Dallas adult cabarets. If you have an idea for a subject you'd like discussed in this article, call John at (972)898-4811. You can follow him on Twitter at twitter.com/johnjdick. And ladies, make sure you tip your DJ well. He tries really hard to take care of you. Make sure you take care of him in return. He has bills to pay too. And don't expect VIP DJ service if you are only willing to tip him table dance prices. He'll thank you for the tip with a smile on his face... but he does keep notes.

Ain't technology grand? Only a couple of decades ago, it took so much to make a film... lights, sound, script, direction, film, endless takes... now, all you need is a camcorder, a bunch of drugs and the ability to raid the Halloween shop off season.

Goth Kill is the worst film I have ever seen. While the title was intriguing, and the premise of priest turns into a witch/demon via reincarnation throughout the centuries and takes over the "goth" scene in a nameless big city sounds like a barrel of drunken monkeys, such is not the case.

I can't decide where to begin to relate to you how awful this piece of cinematic turd was: the poor acting, the atrocious timing, the common sets and costuming, the uneven sound, the lack of soundtrack, the unattractive actors, the unbelievable fight and gore scenes... the sucktitude factor of this movie is off the charts. The "special effects" were of the short bus variety. And when there was some gratuitous semi-nudity, the chicks were not hot in the least!

It took me two tries to get through this film, and the only reason I did it is because Clint at MVD sent it to me and I owe him for that. Thanks, buddy. In fact, let me relay our emails:

on 06/09, from me: hi clint, goth kills is one of the worst films ever! i tried to watch it last night, and can't decide which is worse: the terrible acting, the uneven sound, the shitty script or the bad gore! i got 45 minutes in and just couldn't take any more... actually if there would have been some soundtrack and the director would have had better flow and timing, it could have been alright as the story is not half bad.

i am going to have to have a few drinks in me before i can finish the rest of the film...

then from me last week: "goth kill" next week... shudder...

Clint: haha

You know how a film can be so bad that it's almost good, like in a fun way? There are a scant couple of moments in Goth Kill that almost reach that, but definitely not enough to have me recommend it.

The one thing I did like was the "morality tale" which is religion is bogus, whether it be in the name of the Heavenly Father or the Dark Lord.

The best part is at the very end when the credits start when there were a few seconds dedicated to splashing this on the screen: "Special Fk You!: You know who you are. Through a combination of greed, malice, and willful incompetence you almost killed this production. This movie wasn't made thanks to your efforts, it was completed despite you." If that ain't airing dirty unnecessary laundry, I don't know what is. In fact, I wish they would have included the name or names of said nameless almost-foilers, just so I could write them and thank them for at least trying to squelch this annoying gnat of flickdom.

And lest ye say that, "Those who can, do, and those who can't, critique," go to myspace.com/mandiblesofdeath. Now, that's acting!!!

P.S. I was looking for the box cover for this review and I ran across this:

<http://www.moviecynics.com/goth-kill-movie-drinking-game/>

Maybe this will help me see Goth Kill in a fuzzier, more forgiving light... or make me completely black out!-YRS

IT'S HARD TO FIND A GOOD DONKEY SHOW

The Weekly Adventures Of OJ Tobias

I took my wife out for our anniversary the other night. All she did was complain. She bitched about dinner and dancing. I wrote down the conversation.

"I am sick of you bringing me here on our anniversary," she said.

"Why, I think it is romantic considering we had dinner here the night I proposed," I said.

"If I knew we would be eating anniversary dinner at a gas station every year, I would have made you take me to Waffle House that night!"

"I hate Waffle House! How can you serve hash browns without gravy?" I asked.

"I am not going to the strip club..." She continued to piss all over our night.

"But that's where you danced the night we got engaged!" I didn't mention she made $200 dollars that night.

"I don't want to strip every year."

"Well, I am all about tradition. Just call me old fashioned, If we are going to break tradition, you can pick where we are going." Boy, was that a big mistake. I ended up spending the evening in Bible study.

She told me a year ago that she found Jesus. I thought Jesus was one of our kids' Latino friends that hung out around the house. But it does explain her getting dressed up and going to church every Sunday.

Now she is talking about a divorce. You never see it coming-- it always blindsides you. But let me warn all of you: Jesus is out there, trying to destroy your marriage. Apparently he ain't happy with just the nuns. He also wants your wife!

It would be easier if it was a lawn guy named Jesus. You could get him deported. But Jesus, goddamn! It would be easier if she was banging Superman.

Anyway, she thinks she is taking the kids. I am an alcoholic topless bar manager with a felony record. She is devoted to Jesus. Who do you think makes more money? She ain't got a chance.

One Week Later

Well fk. She got the kids.

I was at work, sitting at the bar drinking when I vaguely remembered my wife coming in and asking me to sign some shit. For whatever reason, I thought it was a bar tab. Turns out they were custody papers. When the judge saw the papers, he asked "Why did you write in a place for a tip? And why did you tip $100?"

"Cause I ain't no cheap fk, that's why Your Holiness!"

"Are you drunk, Mr. Tobias?" Said His Holiness

"Well, I sure the fk ain't sober!" I retorted.

"Your wife just testified that you were arrested this very morning for attempting to insert a buttplug into the rectum of your dog. Is this true?"

"Well, how else are you supposed to house break 'em?" For real, there is truly more than one way to skin a cat. "I don't think it worked, though. I think the dog kinda wanted it."

I really never get tired of the surprised look on a judge's face. They look so innocent and clean. Then you can see them change right before your eyes.

Well, I got a free week's stay at the loony bin. I was thinking it was going to be a real bad day, but it turned out great. Can't wait to start getting some of those good drugs. It's hard to find that quality shit on the streets. I think I will slap some orderlies around when I get there. That way they will give me a muscle relaxing tranquilizer Those are the best. I wish cops shot those out of guns when they arrested you.

Nola's Nuggets

Not Your Ordinary Advice Column

Dear Nola:

My girlfriend and I have fantastic sex. She is always passionate and makes a lot of noise in our love making and appears to have multiple orgasms. My question is....how can I know for sure if she's really cumming or just faking it?

Signed,
Doubting Johnson

Dear Gentle Doubter:

Well aren't you having a good time!

Several things come to mind as I read your question. One is...what difference does it make if she seems to be enjoying the experience. Another is...is this really about her sexual enjoyment or about trusting what she's communicating to you? Now Nola is all for mutual pleasuring and satisfaction and we all know that orgasms have more than a little something to do with both; however, trust is the ultimate aphrodisiac, right? Ok, maybe not, but can't hurt.

So...I say, go with it, if she says she's cumming, she's cumming....and if you must, check her pupils for dilation. The secret being that both are dilated; just one may mean she's having a stroke and you need to dial 911.

Good luck to you Gentle Horny Reader, Nola.

Dear Nola:

I asked my girlfriend if she'd agree to a threesome and she said, 'sure, ask Bob!'

I said, 'uh no, I was thinking Kathy'. Now she's not speaking to me. What do I do?

Signed, No Menage a Trois in sight.

Dear Frustrated Trois Hopeful:

Most men I know would relish the silence....however, I suspect it is the dashed fantasy that is upsetting you. Therefore, find a third party—preferably a tranny that goes by either Kathy or Bob, and you each can have more of what you both want. Relationships do require compromise, do they not.

Good luck to you Gentle Trois Seeker, Nola.

Do you have a question for Nola. If so, just email your question to NolasNuggets@live.com and she'll respond through this column.

The Adult Nightclub Industry's Top Clubs & Entertainers Will Be Celebrated At The 12th Annual Adult Nightclub & Exotic Dancer Awards Show

Following in the footsteps of one of the most popular ED's Awards Show in the event's history, the 2009 ED's Adult Nightclub & Exotic Dancer Awards show will once again find itself at the Hard Rock Hotel & Casino—this time, in their brand new "Joint" showroom. This year's "Rock & Jock Awards Show" will boast both a rock 'n' roll and sports vibe, incorporating EXPO '09's "Building a Winning Team in Your Club" theme. The 2009 ED's Awards Show—the multi-billion-dollar adult nightclub industry's only national awards show—will present awards to the nation's top adult clubs and feature entertainers on August 25th, 2009, during the 17th Annual Gentlemen's Club EXPO.

"With all of the great feedback we received after last year's Awards Show, there was no doubt that we had to return to the Hard Rock," says ED's Associate Publisher Dave Manack. "Everything our attendees loved about the '08 show—live music by The Crashers band, a relaxed rock 'n' roll atmosphere, a great venue, table seating, etc.—is back this year, with some new twists."

Those "twists" include a slew of special awards presenters, including a couple of superstars from the sports world. Dallas Cowboy legend and Superbowl champ Ed "Too Tall" Jones will be handing out ED's awards, as will motocross superstar Carey Hart. Hart will also host the Awards Show After Party at his nightclub Wasted Space inside the Hard Rock. Other special presenters include Lisa Ann, star of "Nailin' Palin," Howard Stern's "Ronnie the Limo Driver," porn legend Ron Jeremy, the "Naked Comedian" Jade Simone St. Clair and more.

And speaking of the NFL, Awards Show guests will have a chance to win two tickets to football's "big game" (and you know what super "big game" we're talking about!) with a surprise competition.

In addition to regional adult club awards for the Northeast, Southeast, Mideast, Central, Southwest and Northwest categories, there are eight clubs nominated for the prestigious "Overall Gentlemen's Club of the Year" Award. They include: Delilah's in Philadelphia, PA; Diamond Cabaret in Denver, CO; Larry Flynt's Hustler Club in New York, NY; Pink Pony South in Atlanta, GA; Rachel's in West Palm Beach, FL; Rick's Cabaret in New York, NY; The Lodge in Dallas, TX; and The Men's Club in Charlotte, NC.

In the entertainer award categories, the following four awards will be presented: "Newcomer Feature of the Year," "Adult Movie Feature of the Year," "Club Favorite Feature of the Year" and the coveted "Overall Entertainer of the Year." The five "Entertainer of the Year" nominees, who will also provide command performances on the "Joint" stage, include Daisy Duxe, Rachelle Laree, Robyn Fox, Schevelle and Suzie Malone.

There are also ED's awards for "Club Chain of the Year," "Feature Club of the Year," "Industry Innovator of the Year" and the Annual ED's Hall of Fame inductions.

Tickets for the '09 "Rock & Jock Awards Show" are $89 and can be purchased at www.EDpublications.com or by calling (727) 726-3592. Seating is limited!

BARKIN' OUT LOUD

by Pat "Two Dogs" Snow

and Sunday and man, if you thought the weather was hot, these drag boats were hotter! The web page has videos.

This was a SDBA (Southern Drag Boats Association) High Points Championship Race and over 150 of the boats were hard at it. Depending on the class they're running in, some of these boats are pushed with 1,000+ horsepower fuel, alcohol, and gas power plants.

The smaller classes can turn quarter miles under 10 seconds at just over 100 mph, and the larger classes can turn quarters around the 7 second mark with speeds over 160 mph, and some of these can push much higher. This is on throwin' it down on water.

Tour de Lance in France. You know, it's ok that everyone can hold an opinion, it's just that some folks oughta realize that they need to keep holdin' it and not share it with the rest of us.

Some lady who thinks she's "seriously insightful" and "gravely responsible" has issued a statement that Lance has made it virtually impossible to question his cycling because you'd be questioning his charity work at the same time. Pumplesnuff.

People manage to ignore or separate or put things together on their own all the time. Not to say they're right, but hey, they're certainly having their own opinion and fun.

Jealousy, sour grapes, resentment, blah blah blah will get people to set aside reason and charge forth with idiocy. Point of fact, Lance Armstrong has never failed a drug test. Other riders were caught with the same exhaustive tests, but Lance passed them.

And no, we don't need some self-promoting "sage" telling us that "only Lance will ever know the truth". That's the kinda stupid crap some kid says to a girl to impress her, or someone trying to sound important with nothing to say.

You race in the world's toughest cycling event, win it an earth shattering 7 times INAROW, plus never fail a drug test, then I say to the nay sayers: the stuff you're talkin' is like all that stuff in a cow pasture the flies are attracted to. Buzz off.

Have you been watchin' this bike race? It's been great on this HD view, great country side shots, but the race itself is a little off kilter I'd say.

Why? Well, first of all, it's no longer a mano y mano bike race. Nope, it's got all the riders, but they're all wired with ear pieces and receivers to take information from their race directors, who, get this, are in cars traveling IN and around and through the Peloton (fancy name for big group of bike riders). This race is totally made up of teams, no individuals (years ago there were), and they pick their hero and all the rest do the grunt work to get their wunderkind to the front of the leader board.

It's great the guys still have to physically pull this off, but c'mon, get the cars and electronics out of it and let the guys just go after it themselves. By the way, it was Lance's team on his first Tour win that introduced this radio stuff.

Another weird thing is how they time the stages. There's usually some breakaway riders who get individual times up front, but when the main Peloton of riders cross, they all get the same time. That's why you didn't see any changes in the leaders for the first week, except Lance getting dropped to third by Contador when he broke away.

So the start of the Tour's race strategy is to win the first couple of rides which include the team time trial, which fixes your place in the Peloton before heading into the Pyrenees, then ride with the main body in sections where there's no dan- ger to losing your place in the standings.

Here's the thing, by making the whole group the same time, there's no incentive to "race" for better positions. Excuse me, but I thought a race was to win? Which would require to win as many stages as possible for the best overall time, no?

In the Tour de France case, the answer is a resounding NO. They try to sell you on it being a tactically more exciting race, but the real answer is with team's competing the advertising and endorsements have taken over the race.

Still, it's exciting to see how a particular rider can break away from the group and fight for a stage victory or to wear one of the secondary jerseys. Or to wear the coveted yellow leaders jersey even for one day. Bicycling is big in Europe, I'm glad they got it, it's ok to watch a race here on tv if you don't get caught doing it more than once, but give me the American sports any day.

Mixed Martial Arts

The UFC and MMA fights are doing at least one of the few things they needed to do to get better, and that's the fights are getting to the superior level. Not all of 'em, but for sure more and more of 'em. I still don't like the wrestling component, and yeah, I think judo and jui jitso are still wrestling even with those fancy names. But the fan base has grown enough that more big draws could be spread around the country, like having some of the bigger fights here in Dallas.

You heard me bark that the Faber v Brown fight was one of the best I'd seen in a while, well, McCullough v Cerrone was at least the equal.

If your one of those unfortunate souls who've never been in a fight, don't plan on being in a fight, and don't ever wanna see a fight, well then, you better not just shy away from UFC fights, you better rabbit as fast as you can.

You're lying in bed with just the sheet covering you, the fan whooshing overhead, sunlight slowly filling the room, and the radio alarm goes off. The announcer tells you its 6 a.m. and you feel the heat of the day in your lungs, the sweeps of the fan breaking it over you in waves. It's early morning in Texas, it's already in the 80's, and we got another hot day a comin'.

If the weather wants to roast us, then let's really scorch the landscape and turn the mad dogs loose.

I read where the weather forecasters say the El Nino's are back and gonna hit us with all kinds of storm activity. Gimme a break, this is Texas. We've been havin' weather here for umpteen million years, people been livin' and workin' here for hundreds of years, and the only way it's really gonna get any hotter here is if the Cowboys don't get their butt's to the post season. I'm tellin' ya, we're getting' ready for some body bangin' up here now.

How's about a public service announcement. You've had enough time to lounge around and get all relaxed from last season's heydays. Get up and get the lead out and start getting' ready for next season. We're all gonna need to be in shape for what's comin'.

Let's set the dog loose in the field and start huntin'.

Did ya'll get to the Cowntown Drag Boat Nationals on the north side of Ft Worth this past weekend? GREAT action! It was on both Saturday

But if you're someone who enjoys watching a good fight, and if you really understand what a good fight is all about, then you need to be adding channels Spike and Versus to your favorites. McCullough v Cerrone was fast, hard, smart, tough to the bone, and no holds barred.

Like, you got the other man down and it's not just fists to the face, it's slamming elbows and forearms to the face, and head butting like a battering ram. It's being under a ferocious attack and getting out of it and turning the tables on the other guy. It's bringing a knee up fast past his chest into his chin, popping his head back. No quarter asked and no quarter given.

UFC 100, Lesnar v Mir was about as exciting as watching ducks walk. Lesnar pounded Mir and that was about it. I did think the end was funny when Lesnar flipped off the audience, taunting them to keep booing. What was funnier was Lesnar getting in trouble for doing it.

Hey, if your gonna get all indignant over some fighter flipping off the audience at a mixed martial arts fight that's as bloody as a cattle slaughter house, then I really think you're priorities are shot. If you want nice nice, go to a coffee house and do whatever coffee house people do, but don't go to a brawl.

By the way, the Combative Sports Expo is coming to Ft. Worth September 5-6 this year at the Amon Carter Exhibit Hall. This is the first ever consumer show for combative sports in Texas. There'll be local and state fighters as well as some of the top professional fighters in the sport.

There'll be seminars in boxing, martial arts, and Muay Thai. 8th degree black belt in BJJ, Carlos Machado, will be there. The exhibit floor will have everything from gear suppliers to authors to training facilities, and tons more relating to mixed martial arts.

You'll have opportunities to get autographs and photos, and there's several UFC hero's on board to meet. This is great sport and a great group of people, so go mingle and dive in up to your elbows to find out all the things you wanted to know.

The Dallas Summer Boat Show opens at Market Hall July 17-19 and again July 24-26. Yes, it's over two weekends instead of straight on through. Admission is $10 per adult and $4 for kids 2-13. There'll be free seminars to learn and ask plenty of questions. For more info go to dallasboatshow.net.

NBA – Dallas Mavericks

Hey, I just got to do it, you know. I just got to say I think we got some people in the Mav's organization have been playing ostrich and trying to build a team while their heads are deep in the ground.

Whatever the logic is they're using to mix and match players, they ain't lettin' the public in on it. Considering how bad it's been I may have to thank them later for not putting that in my head. They still defend the trade for Kidd, and defend it with an unrealistic contract. They let several players pass this off season then decide to make their big move and grab Shawn Marion.

And what's the big move to compliment all this? The Mav's offer Orlando's Marcin Gortat 5 years and $34 million. Really, now. Doesn't this smell like the DeSagana Diop 6 year $32 million deal? Remember what a great stud he was for Dallas? Oh, sorry, you can't remember him being a stud, you can only remember the failure.

Will Orlando match Dallas's offer? Only if the Mav's are luckier than a leprechaun, and I don't see any four leaf clovers planted near Mav's headquarters.

So next season we're gonna see Nowitzki, Howard, Gortat, Marion, and Kidd as the starting lineup. Quick, except for Terry, who's the rest of the bench? Yeah, a bunch nobody knows, or turned another way, a bunch of nobodies.

What's the best I can say about the front office decision making? At least they didn't trade for Artest. You might want to start practicing that run to the medicine closet.

Arwy:

While you're back in school trying to learn out how to spell, why don't you figure out what real news is, too.

TD

Two Dogs:

I heard Lance Armstrong got fined and reprimanded for a violation of some kind. Is this just another case of the French hounding him? What's the story?

Liz
Midlothian

Liz:

Lance was verbally and publicly chastised for not signing autographs and not registering before an early race stage. The reason he didn't register was because he was running late. He was running late because he was signing autographs. The fine was the equivalent of $92 US for failure to register. It seems that particular French official is having difficult seeing the sun shine from where his head is currently located.

TD

Mr. Two Dogs:

I've a neighbor who's got me more than a little concerned that the reason we're having earth tremors below us is due to what had to be done to lay the foundation for that new Cowboys stadium in Arlington, which is almost due north of us. He says with all the blasting and excavating they did, plus the weight of this enormous stadium that it's forcing the earth to move all across the area and our little community is some sort of epicenter. I wasn't worried until the collapse of the practice facility, plus we've been getting more tremors, and nobody at the Cowboys organization will return my calls about it. Do you think this is true and that the Cowboys would cover this up?

Genna
Cleburne

Genna:

Ask your neighbor if he'd like to be put in touch with the people who believe Cowboys stadium is a spaceship. If the Cowboys ever had anything that could make the earth move believe me, it'd be the Cheerleaders.

TD

Two Dogs:

I'm a huge Cowboys and Stars fan. Do you think they have a chance to get back into the play-offs? What was the biggest move for each this off season?

Quinton
Pleasant Grove

Quinton:

Both teams have the talent, the coaching, and the system's to get them back in, it's how the locker rooms are gonna go. The bigger question mark should be the Cowboys. The Stars biggest move was letting head coach Tippett go, and the Cowboys making Phillips the Defensive Coordinator along with being head coach. The Stars don't need a coach "feeling his way" as he takes over, this team is ready now. The Cowboy's crashed at the end of last season and the biggest kerflop was the defense, which Phillips was calling.

If you can't say somethin' nice, at least be bigger or faster.

Honda CR-Z Coming To America In 2010

Honda's all-new sporty hybrid will officially be called the Honda CR-Z and will go on sale in the U.S. in 2010.

Honda sources announced today their decision, confirming a rumor we've previously reported. Details are scarce, but it's safe to assume it will draw some inspiration from the Honda CR-Z concept car, which is a CRX-style three-door hatch, and feature a hybrid system similar to the one found in the current range of Honda hybrids.

We're just hoping the "sporty" in "sporty hybrid" extends beyond the bodywork and you know, into the powertrain.

H-D Sportster Trade-In Program Returns

Harley-Davidson is bringing back its Sportster trade-in program, offering full manufacturer suggested retail price value when trading for a big Twin or V-Rod motorcycle.

From July 1 to Aug. 31, customers who purchase a Sportster 883 or 1200 motorcycle at participating dealerships can get the original MSRP value when upgrading to a larger Harley-Davidson Twin or V-Rod within a year, in the Ride Free II Guarantee.

Harley-Davidson ran a similar program over the winter from Dec. 26, 2008 to Mar. 31, with positive results. In the company's first quarter report in April, Harley-Davidson said the Ride Free program "successfully created consumer interest and reinforced the brand value of Harley-Davidson motorcycles."

Unlike the winter campaign, the summer Ride Free program includes the XR1200 along with six other Sportster models.

Woman Sitting On Toilet Accidentally Shot In Leg

Authorities said a bullet from a gun that was accidentally dropped injured a Tampa woman sitting in a bathroom stall. Police said the bullet hit 53-year-old Janifer Bliss in the lower left leg. She was taken to a hospital with minor injuries.

Bliss was sitting on the toilet in a hotel bathroom when a woman in the next stall accidentally let her handgun slip out of her waist holster. The weapon discharged when it hit the ground.

Police said the gun belonged to a 56-year-old woman who has a concealed weapons permit.

Drunken Tractor Driver Leads Police On Slow Chase

A drunk German sparked a slow-speed police chase after stealing a tractor to get home from a nightclub after his girlfriend left without him, said police, who used pepper spray to try to stop the vehicle.

"After his girlfriend abandoned him in a night club, the 23-year-old driver, who doesn't own a license, commandeered the vehicle to make his way home," a police spokesman said on Monday.

Six police cars began trailing the tractor, which was chugging along at 20 km (12 miles) an hour, after they were alerted to the theft at about 5 a.m. Saturday.

Officers tried holding up stop signs and directing pepper spray through the open window to bring the driver to a halt.

They then tried unsuccessfully to end his getaway by throwing nail belts on the road, but the tractor's tires proved too thick, said the police spokesman.

The 40-minute chase finally came to an end when officers shot at the tractor's tires after it rammed into a police car and collided with another vehicle.

That'll Do Pig, Zoo Tells Only Porker
Afghanistan's only known pig trotted out of quarantine Saturday, two months after he was locked away because of swine flu fears, to bask again in the mud at the Kabul Zoo.

The pig, a curiosity in Muslim Afghanistan where pork and pig products are illegal because they are considered irreligious, was quarantined because visitors to the zoo were worried it could spread the new H1N1 flu strain, commonly known as swine flu.

"Our people did not understand that the disease only passes from person to person and felt that the swine influenza might even be spread from the zoo because we have a pig here," zoo manager Aziz Gul Saqib told Reuters.

"Other zoos abroad told us not to worry ... when people began to realize the disease doesn't come from the pig itself we decided to release the pig," he said. "Khanzir" -- Pashto for pig -- appeared unperturbed as a team of zoo workers used sticks to gently prod him out of his temporary concrete home into his usual enclosure of lush green shrubs and a mud puddle.

Toy-Gun Robber Foiled By Bat Wielding Store Worker

Authorities in south Alabama say a gas station employee used a cricket bat to chase away a would-be robber who brandished a toy gun.

The Baldwin County Sheriff's office says the suspect entered Bee Gee's gas station near Bay Minette Saturday afternoon and tried to use the fake weapon to steal money.

Sheriff's Cpl. Mike Gaull tells the Press-Register of Mobile that the employee noticed the gun had an orange tip on the barrel and grabbed the cricket bat. The suspect then ran out of the store without any money.

Police: Man Seeks Ride From Detective After Heist

Authorities say a parolee who robbed a Michigan bank was caught when he tried to hitch a ride from an undercover police detective.

Mark E. White was arraigned Friday on charges that include bank robbery and making a false bomb threat. He is being held at the Saginaw County Jail on $755,000 bond. It was not clear whether White had an attorney. Police did not immediately return a message seeking comment Saturday.

Authorities tell The Saginaw News that White flagged down Saginaw Township Detective Scott Jackson on Wednesday after the bank robbery a few blocks away.

Drunk Badger Disrupts Traffic

A badger in Germany got so drunk on over-ripe cherries it staggered into the middle of a road and refused to budge, police said on Wednesday.

A motorist called police near the central town of Goslar to report a dead badger on a road -- only for officers to turn up and discover the animal alive and well, but drunk.

Police discovered the nocturnal beast had eaten cherries from a nearby tree which had turned to alcohol and given the badger diarrhoea.

Having failed to scare the animal away, officers eventually chased it from the road with a broom.

Woman Wins Her 9th Big Lottery Prize
Brenda Bailey is still on a roll. This week, the 60-year-old South Charleston woman claimed her ninth West Virginia Lottery prize, $7,000 in the Gem 7s instant game. That brings her total winnings since last September to $159,000 from five instant tickets.

Lottery officials say Bailey has claimed a total $165,800 in prizes from instant and online games since 2000.

She's not the only lucky one in the family. Her husband Richard claimed a $6,000 instant game prize in January and a $10,000 prize last September.

12V Plug-Powered In-Car Pizza Oven Promises Traveling Pie Bliss

Ever been on the road with a powerful hankering for Pizza and no time to stop? Well friend, your prayers have been answered. Here's a 12V pizza oven that'll cook your pizza as you drive.

Available from Stupidiotic for the bargain price of only $36, the "Porta-Pizza Oven" is indeed both portable and a pizza oven, and the best possible way to start your interior on fire while you're in the car. If you somehow manage to use this device and not start the car on fire, you'll most likely have to run the AC to keep from cooking yourself, and then you'll have to deal with slicing a pizza up while driving around. On the other hand, this might revolutionize the Pizza delivery business.

N Range Indoor Shooting System

A company called N Range Systems, Inc. has developed an indoor shooting range that allows you to fire your own gun indoors. The system uses a unique type of low noise, low smoke and non-lethal low velocity ammunition. At impact, the ammunition carries about 3 ft/lbs of energy, which is less than most BB Guns. The steel-backed target prevents the ammunition from traveling any further.

The best part about the N Range shooting system is that it doesn't require anything more than assembly if you already own a gun. And the company actually recommends you keep it in your home or office.

We're curious to see what happens when you miss. The base price for the Executive model pictured above is $3,554. A no-frills Standard Shooting System runs $1,304.

Calvin Klein USB Sunglasses

Sure, we have seen USB memory devices on objects that probably shouldn't have USB memory devices, and so why not put one on a pair of sunglasses? And if you are going to put it on sunglasses, then put it on Calvin Klein sunglasses.

As you can see, the sunglasses come with a detachable right arm that houses the memory device itself. What you don't see is that it has a 4GB capacity.

So the next time you are on the beach with your netbook, feel free to make a backup of your files on your sunglasses. Of course, you will have to partially disassemble the sunglasses to do that, don't you? You might be able to keep them on your head with one arm if you don't shake your head too much.

So, if you want to store your memory in style, be prepared to pay about $199 for these guys.

Nixie Tubes Are Caffeine-Laced Pixy Stix

Remember Pixy Stix? Man, just one of the jumbo stix was enough to keep me bouncing off the walls for a while. As an adult, sugar just doesn't have quite the same kick that it used to. Luckily candy has evolved and brought us Nixie Tubes.

Nixie Tubes very much resemble the classic Pixie Stix, with one minor upgrade. Each tube has 100mg of caffeine, or about 20% more than your standard cup of Joe. A pack of five tubes is going to run you around $9, which is a bit pricey for candy. If you're in a pinch and need a quick (and tasty) pick-me-up, then one of these might just do the trick.

1131 MARKETPLACE - GARLAND

AIN'T NOTHIN' BUT A G-STRING

Unless you have been living under a rock, you've more than likely noticed the recent surge in popularity that the retro/vintage/atomic culture has been receiving, especially in Texas! Vintage shops such as Dolly Python's and Curiosities have been THE place to go, as well as the Soda Gallery in the Bishop Arts District. Red lipstick, vintage stockings, and pretty pumps are all the rage, and magazines such as Bachelor Pad (www.bachelorpadmagazine.com) seek to continue the "atomic age" with recipes to make KILLER drinks, babes and the best in burlesque! With that in mind - La Divina Productions, the powerhouse behind the stunning Spring Fling show featuring Michelle L'Amour, is teaming up with Java of Bachelor Pad Magazine to bring you ATOMIC FROLIC, "a tribute to the era of the late 1950's. This show will feature both classic burlesque performances from the style of the atomic era as well as live music from Ricki Derek to dance the night away." (from lavinaburlesque.com). This is THE show of the summer, and with the venue (the lavish Lakewood Theatre), the entertainers, and the vendors, it promises to be a fantastic way to spend your Saturday night!

The headliner of the show is Kitten DeVille, Miss Exotic World 2002. "Known as 'The Embodiment of Burlesque' Kitten de Ville performs across the United States and Europe where she headlines with a variety of top musicians and performers. She has been featured in two Burlesque documentaries, and is an accredited award winning international burlesque super star. This multi talented Kitten also produces a successful rock n roll burlesque show, runs her own school of burlesque in her home town of southern California, and has also appeared on the runways for such acclaimed designers as Jean-Paul Gaultier, Syren and Agent Provocateur." (from www.myspace.com/kitten_de_ville) Angela Ryan, La Divina, Black Mariah, Ginger Valentine, and Rose Darling round out the rest of the amazing performers from Dallas, and will also be joined by Ruby Rocket from Austin.

Angela Ryan (www.angelaryan.com) is a Dallas-based fetish/pinup model and burlesque performer, who you've recently seen at events such as Spring Swing Revue and Hot Rods and Heels! You can also find her gracing the covers of magazines such as Gothic Beauty and Deadbeat magazine, as well as catching her performances around Texas and abroad!

La Divina is a Dallas-based traditional, classic burlesque performer, pinup and classic glamour model, who recently took home the 2009 Texas Burlesque Festival Best Soloist award! She has also graced the pages of Bachelor Pad magazine (check out lavinaburlesque.com and myspace.com/divinaburlesque, her photos are STUNNING!). Make sure you keep up with La Divina, so you know when all of these lavish shows happen!

Ginger Valentine (thegarterbelt.blogspot.com) is an award-winning classic burlesque soloist and instructor. She is the founder and head mistress of Ginger Valentine's Burlesque Charm School offered exclusively at The Girls' Room in Dallas. Ginger's gonna be travelling a lot in the coming months - to Colorado, Minneapolis, and New Orleans, where she'll be unleashing her "weapons of mass seduction."

Black Mariah is a 3 year member of the DFW fave Lollie Bombs troupe, as well as an established solo artist. Formerly of White Lightning Burlesque in Knoxville, Tennessee, this Southern sweetheart, as well as Dallas Dr. Sketchy's most recent sexy model, is an absolute KNOCKOUT on stage, especially when she... well, you'll have to see the show, I can't give away ALL the details!

Rose Darling, known as the "darling of burlesque", is enjoying quite a year, debuting her solo career earlier this year at Glam'Amour's Bewitching Burlesque Revue, and a mini session with the Dallas chapter of Dr. Sketchy's as Ms. Marvel over at the Soda Gallery. She will also be travelling to New Orleans with Ms. Valentine to be a feature in one of the shows during the New Orleans Burlesque Festival!

Ruby Rocket (www.rocketsagogo.com), known as the real life comic pinup girl, also won an award at the Texas Burlesque Festival, taking away the Best Comedic Performance! If you caught the Spring Swing Revue, then you know why - her hilariously sexy "Sex Ed" number was a riot! Ruby is currently gearing up for her trip to the San Diego Comic Con in August!

Our emcee for the evening is none other than Java, the publishing genius behind Bachelor Pad magazine (www.bachelorpadmagazine.com)! This magazine brings the Atomic Age to you - pages filled with vintage pinups, cocktail recipes, witty cartoons and stories, and other tidbits that any good bachelor (or anyone, for that matter!) should know! The evening will also be accompanied by the smooth vocal stylings of Ricki Derek (www.myspace.com/rickidereksings), who has been performing for over ten years. He specializes in the great songs from when Basie, Prima, Sinatra, Martin, and Bennett were lighting up the stage at the Sands.

Also to mention, myself, along with Bunny Bailey, will be panty wrangling this event! For a little background - panty wranglers are the folks who clear the stage, get it set up for the next performer, and STILL manage to look sexy doing it! You'll also see us running about doing last minute details, so catch us and let us know that you are enjoying the show!

I highly suggest getting your tickets as soon as possible... this event is very close to selling out! Best to do is run by the Lakewood Box Office or call 214 821 7469 to reserve! This is truly a throw back to the atomic age of the 1950's, so come out to enjoy a night of booze, beautiful women, amazing burlesque, and a grand ole time! See you there, in your best vintage wear!

Cheers! Vivienne Vermuth

All About Porn: Releases, News and Stars!

Porn Downloads Strain Japan Phone Network

Takeshi says he pays 6,300 yen ($66) a month to NTT DoCoMo Inc. for unlimited Internet access, allowing him to download adult movies on his mobile phone.

"A mobile is far handier than a computer for Internet access -- I seldom use a PC outside the office," said Tokyo travel agent Takeshi, 32, who declined to give his surname.

Takeshi and other pornography fans are feeding a surge in demand for movie downloads in Japan, home to the world's first third-generation wireless network. While profiting from the traffic, Tokyo-based mobile carriers DoCoMo and KDDI Corp. say they've been forced to impose limits on the heaviest users as the $74 billion network feels the strain.

"When you have unlimited data, you're going to have an issue with capacity -- it's an issue that's been waiting to happen," said Windsor Holden, principal analyst at Juniper Research Ltd. "It wouldn't surprise me that it happens in Japan first because they've had 3G for so much longer."

Softbank Corp., the third-largest network and the Japanese operator of Apple Inc.'s iPhone service, said it is also considering restrictions on users with unlimited data plans.

and one in a cage. It was a ridiculous scene as porn stars straddled stripper poles and danced above the main bar in a Garden of Eden setup.

No Porn in Ukraine Without a Doctor's Note

The government in Ukraine has now pushed through a law that makes pornography illegal—unless used for medicinal purposes.

The law, as previously reported by AVN.com, is certainly oppressive and, as opponents have noted, fails to define what actually constitutes pornography. Critics argue it could encompass all forms of erotic art or perhaps even mildly titillating material of any kind.

The Register reports that Ukrainian President Viktor Yushchenko recently signed off on the new measure, which makes possession of pornography—not violent extreme porn or child porn, but any and all porn—a criminal offense. Violations will bring a fine of 850 hryvnia ($110, which is a lot of money in Ukraine) and/or up to three years in prison.

Porn in Ukraine is still defined—vaguely—by prior legislation in 2003, which states, translated roughly from Ukrainian, "Pornography is vulgar, candid, cynical, obscene depiction of sexual acts, pursuing no other goal, the explicit demonstration of genitals, unethical elements of the sexual act, sexual perversions, realistic sketches that do not meet moral criteria and offend honor and dignity of the human by inciting low instincts."

CNBC's "Porn: Business of Pleasure"

Mainstream news coverage of the adult industry has come a long way since CBS aired its hit piece "48 Hours Looks at Porn" back in the early '90s. For its one-hour documentary Porn: Business of Pleasure, airing next Wednesday, July 15, CNBC actually talked to some of the biggest names in the adult industry, and limited the industry bashing to brief interviews with former prosecutor Patrick Trueman and self-described "porn addict" Michael Leahy.

The focus of the CNBC documentary, however, is the personalities that drive the movie production facet of the business: Vivid owner Steve Hirsch, Digital Playground co-president Samantha Lewis, Wicked Pictures VP Joy King and Pink Visual's Alison Beavis. But the producers of Porn: Business of Pleasure also find time to cover Max Hardcore's last days before beginning his prison term for obscenity, Sasha Grey's experiences crossing over from porn to mainstream, Joanna Angel's rise from posing nude on websites during her college days to her current alt-porn superstar status, and Jesse Jane's juggling of her career in Porn Valley and her home life in Oklahoma City.

While telecommunications companies say privacy laws prevent them from seeing what customers download, Japan's top two pornography providers, Hokuto and Soft on Demand Co., said sales to mobile phone users are driving revenue growth.

"Pornography will eventually open a debate about how carriers should modify their business model as data traffic swells," said Yusuke Tsunoda, a telecommunications analyst at Tokai Tokyo Securities Co. "It may prompt even tighter access restrictions."

Hustler Toasts 35 Years

Larry Flynt knows how to celebrate an occasion. The Hustler magazine founder may have outdone himself on Saturday night as he threw a lavish, extravagant affair for 500-plus invited guests at an airplane hangar at the Santa Monica Airport.

The crowd came early and stayed late for this one. In a manner befitting of LFP's stature in adult entertainment, Flynt & Co. commemorated his iconic publication's 35th anniversary with a Heaven-and-Hell-themed, multimedia experience complete with gourmet food, an open bar and 100 completely nude models.

There wasn't a strip club in the country with a better lineup on this night. Girls dressed as angels and devils. Girls groping each other on canopy beds. Mini-fetish shows breaking out next to a table full of cupcakes. Girls lounging naked above the buffet

SEX IN THE NEWZ

UK Envoy Quits After Sex Video Surfaces On Russia Website

A British diplomat in Russia has resigned after allegedly being filmed having sex with two prostitutes, in a classic sting operation apparently masterminded by the country's security services.

James Hudson quit as deputy consul general in Yekaterinburg after the video – entitled Adventures of Mr Hudson in Russia – mysteriously surfaced on a local website (www.informacia.ru).

The film, lasting four minutes and 18 seconds, appears to show Hudson entering a brothel. He lies down on a sofa, opens a bottle of champagne and cavorts with two blonde women in their underwear. The video then shows him having sex with both women. As well as prostitutes, the website accused the 37-year-old diplomat of gambling and taking "light drugs" – hinting it had further damaging material.

The high quality of the video suggests that this was the work of professionals, and not amateurs. The security services have a track record of such endeavours.

British diplomats arriving in Russia are routinely briefed about the dangers of entrapment and told to avoid nightclubs and other compromising situations. Today the Foreign Office refused to comment directly on the case, but a spokesman said: "We expect all of our employees to abide by the highest standards of conduct. We take all allegations of inappropriate behaviour seriously. I'm not in a position to comment on individual cases."

Police: Couple Charged With Having Sex In Drug Car

The car was a-rockin', and the law went a-knock-in'.

Bexar County sheriff's deputies drawn by the actions of an amorous couple in a parked car allegedly found more than l'amour.

Deputy Ino Badillo tells the San Antonio Express-News they also found enough equipment and chemicals in the car Thursday night to start a methamphetamine lab.

Badillo says deputies checked out the car after neighbors reported it parked in an unusual spot, just northeast of San Antonio.

He says 26-year-old Timothy Overly and 25-year-old Candace Prewitt have been charged with public lewdness and manufacture of a controlled substance.

Berlin "Sex Academy" Offers Tips For Visitors

Wannabe Latin lovers can improve their technique by playing with the erogenous zones of naked mannequins at a new interactive exhibition that has now opened in Berlin.

The "Amora sex academy" that opened in Berlin on Thursday welcomes visitors with the wry slogan,

"Finally -- an exhibition for those who always have to touch everything."

More than 50 interactive displays guide visitors through the intimate areas of the male and female bodies, offering helpful tips on everything from striptease to oral sex and how to achieve a perfect orgasm.

"A lot of couples come in here together to learn something," said Uta Barkow, the manager of the Beate Uhse sex chain which is hosting the academy. "It's been very well received so far. A lot of exhibits have that 'aha' effect on a lot of people."

The show features several life-sized plastic models, naked and in various positions. One female mannequin light ups when touched in the right spot. A voice shrieks "That's it!" when the visitor manages to put his finger on the elusive G-spot. Next to it is what the museum called its "Spank-o-meter." It measures the level of pleasure a mannequin receives when spanked with a leather whip.

"So far we've had just as many women in here as men," Barkow said. "Women coming in tend to have fewer inhibitions while the men tend to be a bit more embarrassed."

The museum also shows film clips of various sexual positions, including the "Italian chandelier" that the viewer learns can burn up to 920 calories per hour.

Founded by Frenchman Johan Rizki, the sex academy opened in London earlier this year and is also due to come to Barcelona.

Berlin Brothel Offers Discounts For Cyclists

A Berlin brothel has come up with a novel way to negate the impact of the global economic crisis and target a new group of customers at the same time -- offering a discount to patrons who arrive on bicycles.

"The recession has hit our industry hard," said Thomas Goetz, owner of the "Maison d'envie" brothel.

"Obviously we hope that the discount will attract more people," he added. "It's good for business, it's good for the environment -- and it's good for the girls."

Customers who arrive on bicycle or who can prove they took public transportation get a 5-euro (4 pounds) discount from the usual 70-euro ($100) fee for 45 minute sessions, Goetz told Reuters. He said the environmentally friendly offer was working.

"We have around 3-5 new customers coming in daily to take advantage of the discount," he said, adding the green rebate has helped alleviate traffic and parking congestion in the neighbourhood.

Germany is one of the few countries in the world where prostitution is legal. It has about 400,000 prostitutes who, since 2002, have been allowed to enter formal labour contracts.

Indian Yoga Guru Challenges Gay Sex Ruling

India's top television yoga expert has challenged a landmark court ruling legalising gay sex, claiming it is a "disease" that can be cured by yoga, reports said Thursday.

Swami Baba Ramdev filed the petition on the grounds that the Delhi High Court "erred" in decriminalising "unnatural sex acts" last week and that homosexuality was an illness which could be treated, according to the Indian Express newspaper.

"It can be treated like any other congenital defect. Such tendencies can be treated by yoga, pranayama (breathing exercises) and other meditation techniques," he said in the challenge filed in the Supreme Court.

Last week's judgment reversing a colonial-era ban on homosexuality has met with widespread opposition among many religious groups and conservatives who say same-sex relationships threaten the fabric of traditional Indian society.

In an interview with the Times of India, Swami Ramdev said homosexuality caused "mental bankruptcy" and was "against God and creation."

The influential guru has a wide following among millions of middle-class Hindus who regularly tune into his healthy living programmes on television.

Mass. Lawsuit Challenges Federal Gay Marriage Ban

Massachusetts has filed a challenge to the federal Defense of Marriage Act (DOMA), Reuters reported.

The lawsuit filed Wednesday by Massachusetts Attorney General Martha Coakley on behalf of the 16,000 gay and lesbian couples who have legally wed in Massachusetts since the state legalized gay nuptials in 2004 challenges section 3 of DOMA, which defines marriage as a heterosexual union for federal agencies. Section 3 denies gay and lesbian couples federal benefits such as federal income tax credits, employment and retirement benefits, health insurance coverage, and Social Security payments.

The lawsuit does not challenge section 2 of DOMA, which allows states to ignore legal gay marriages performed in other states.

Congress approved and then-President Bill Clinton signed the legislation into law in 1996. Proponents argued that without the legislation gay activists would win the right to marry in a single state and foist it upon the remainder of the nation. In the mid-90's such a state was Hawaii. In 1993, the Hawaii Supreme Court ruled that denying gay and lesbian couples the right to marry was unconstitutional. However, the court stayed the ruling and by 1998 voters had placed a gay marriage ban in the state constitution, effectively overruling the court's decision.

Gay Penguin: Au Revoir My Love!

It's over for the world's most famous gay penguins. The San Francisco Zoo's Harry and Pepper have called it quits after six long years, the San Francisco Examiner reported Saturday.

Breaking up the couple was Linda, the widow penguin with the hots for Harry.

Harry and Pepper made international headlines when they adopted an egg laid by another Magellanic penguin and zoo handlers allowed the couple to incubate it last year.

Happier times: Pepper, left, Harry

"Of all the parents that year, they were the best," zookeeper Anthony Brown said. "They took very good care of their chick."

Linda decided to pursue Harry when her mate, Fig, died. That was when the flaps came out, and the three birds had to be separated when they quarreled over Linda's apparent seduction.

Pepper was placed in a separate exhibit as Harry and Linda settled in and successfully nested this year. But he has since returned, leaving fans wondering if that's the end of the gay penguin love story.

"It's molting season in late July and early August, and around that time we see couples getting shaken up," Brown said. "It'll be interesting to see if Harry spends any of that time with Pepper."

Rock Hall At Center Of Cleveland's Gay Games Bid

The quest to host the 2014 Gay Games in Cleveland has begun in earnest, and its bid revolves around the Rock Hall.

The games' official site selection committee is expected to arrive in Cleveland before making its way to Boston and Washington D.C. later this summer.

In Cleveland, organizers are hoping the high-visibility of the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum will give them the edge in attracting the Olympic-style sporting event estimated to be worth $60 million in economic impact.

The bid's theme, My Games Rock!, also borrows from Cleveland's steeped history in Rock and Roll, and the Rock Hall has officially backed the bid.

But the competition to host up to 12,000 athletes competing in 28 sporting events and 100,000 spectators in the summer of 2014 is certain to get heated before the summer's over.

Boston, with its rich sports traditions and legal gay marriage, is the presumed city to beat. The District of Columbia offers huge outdoor venues and a new ordinance recognizes gay marriages performed elsewhere. City leaders say they are committed to legalizing gay marriage in the city, possibly as early as the fall.
